To Who It May Concern,

When will this all end? When will stop spending the taxpayer's money with all of these ridiculous court proceedings against the one company that seems to make a difference in this country?

The jobs, service, and donations that Microsoft and its employees give to this country are second to none. How can we continue to beat the dead horse about what should be allowed into an operating system for consumers? The product's ease-of-use and integration of products only benefits the users of software users around the world.

Let's get on with life! Enough of all this!
